Feast of the Ascension:

When Jesus was about to depart this earth and say goodbye to his closest followers, he did something truly important. He spent his final days affirming, comforting and reassuring his disciples, preparing them for his departure. He knew that they would experience an overwhelming sense of loss and sadness. That is why he made significant promises to soften the pain of his final farewell: 'I will never leave you on your own'; 'I will be with you in everything you say or do on my behalf'; 'I will be there with you right to the end of time'. He also passed on the 'baton' of his ministry to them, assuring them of the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Separation hurts, goodbyes often bring bitter tears, but that is part of the great mystery of life and love. Like all of us, the disciples had to learn to 'grow up' and take responsibility for the mission Jesus had entrusted to them. It was only after Jesus left this earth and ascended into heaven that those he left behind could fully embrace the challenge of making him known to the ends of the earth, That is also the challenge and the responsibility now entrusted to each of us, his beloved followers. It is the reason why we celebrate the Feast of the Ascension.
